StinkyKids tees teach children to give back to the community

05/07/2007

Atlanta mom and artist Britt Menzies has managed to come up with a new look via StinkyKids (www.stinkykids.com). Inspired by the age-old expression, 'you little stinker' her whimsical designs of boys and girls on cotton tees illustrate the innocence of childhood. Sizes are available for infants, toddlers, tweens, as well as moms. Buy them on the website www.stinkykids.com or contact Britt to become a retailer. And true to the company's motto "Always be a leader of good"- Britt donates a percentage of profits to Books,Bears and Bonnets, Inc. (www.booksbearsbonnets.org) a nonprofit which provides gift boxes to kids and adults fighting cancer and other serious illnesses.
